

ADOSH Consultation, Education and Training

Training Request Form

Training programs are a free service designed to support employers with basic safety awareness education on the OSHA standards. The ADOSH training staff will provide training classes at your workplace, as instructor availability and scheduling permit, for a class size of at least ten students. Additional free training is provided through our outreach training program with classes scheduled throughout the year in various communities around the state. The ADOSH Education and Training schedule of outreach classes is published in our free quarterly newsletter, the ADOSH Advocate, available online at www.azica.gov.
