The new changes to the rule(s) directly affect the health and safety of those employees working in the State of Arizona who are required to follow the new Cranes and Derrick's standard in the scope of their employment. 6. An explanation of the rule, including the agency's reason for initiating the rule:

In order to conform to the Federal Occupational Safety and Health Standards as required by Section 18(c) of the Federal Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970 requiring State administered occupational safety and health programs to adopt standards that are at least as effective as those adopted by the U.S. Department of Labor, The Industrial Commission is amending R20-5-601 and R20-5-602, by incorporating by reference, amendments from 29 CFR 1926 Subpart Z and 29 CFR 1910 Subpart Z, Toxic and Hazardous Substances, as published in Federal Register 75 FR 126810-12686, March 17, 2010 and became a direct final rule effective June 15, 2010 and further amending R20-5-601, by incorporating by reference amendments from 29 CFR 1926 Subpart R, Steel Erection, published in the Federal Register 75 FR 27429, May 17, 2010 and 29 CFR 1926 Subpart CC, Cranes and Derricks in Construction, as published in the Federal Register 75 FR 47906 – 48177, August 9, 2010.

The Hexavalent Chromium incorporation by reference specifically defines the employer's responsibility to notify workers of all Hexavalent Chromium exposure level monitoring results. The Steel Erection incorporation by reference is a non-mandatory technical amendment that provides information regarding Federal Highway Administration regulations that may apply to employers engaged in activities covered by OSHA's Steel Erection standard. The incorporation by reference of the Crane and Derrick in Construction standard is new and is found in Subpart CC.

7. A reference to any study relevant to the rule that the agency reviewed and either relied on in its evaluation of or justification for the rule or did not rely on in its evaluation of or justification for the rule, where the public may obtain or review each study, all data underlying each study, and any analysis of each study and other supporting material:

None

8. A showing of good cause why the rule is necessary to promote a statewide interest if the rule will diminish a previous grant of authority of a political subdivision of this state:

Not Applicable

9. The summary of the economic, small business, and consumer impact:

The Federal Occupational Safety and Health Administration have determined that amendments to the Hexavalent Chromium and Steel Erection standards does not impose significant additional cost on any private or public sector entity, and does not meet any criteria for an economically significant or major rule specified by Executive Order 12866 and the relevant statutes. The new Crane and Derrick standard according to Federal OSHA economic analysis, is both economical and technically feasible for all employers both large and small. The economic impact on affected employers, in terms of cost versus revenues will range from 0.01 percent to 0.2 percent for the average- size employer. The reduction of employee crane and derrick fatalities, injuries and accidents will reduce operating expenses and will result in improved bottom line financials for most employers.

Cost and benefit analysis of these amendments is available for inspection, review, and copying at the Industrial Commission of Arizona, Division of Occupational Safety and Health, 800 W. Washington St., Phoenix, Arizona 85007.

10. A description of the changes between the proposed rules, including supplemental notices, and final rules (if applicable):

None

13. Incorporations by reference and their location in the rules:
